This was not an offsite.

Two days we wrote for Raw Fury, a games studio. Nobody knew who was cast and who was real.

RAW FURY · THE FACTS

Ordered by	The two founders of a games studio.
For	Their leadership team.
Lasted	Two days.
Left with	A decision made inside the story, not in a meeting.

IN THEIR WORDS

> "Teleport instantly understood my vision, and together we teleported an entire conference through a couple of major structural changes — with a resounding success."

Jonas Antonsson — Co-Founder & CEO · Raw Fury

WHAT WE CAN WRITE FOR YOUR COMPANY

A leadership offsite

Two days inside your company's own plot. Teams of two to twelve.

One long evening

The same idea in a single night.

A conference with a plot

Your own conference, rewritten as a story the whole room is inside.

A dinner for clients

One table, your guests. Everyone else in the room is an actor.

A day for one person

A founder, a partner, someone who is leaving — as a thank-you.

WHAT THE COMPANY RECEIVES

- A decision the team has been postponing — made inside the story
- A debrief the next morning, led by the people who wrote it
- Nothing to organise: every place arranged, our team runs it unseen
- One figure for everything, agreed before we write a line

WHAT THE TEAM RECEIVES

- A plot written for their company alone — never staged before
- Professional actors, rehearsed for weeks, in from the first hour
- No facilitator, no flipchart, no exercises. Nobody is asked to perform
- Something the team will refer to for years

FOUR STEPS

1 Talk to us.

Twenty minutes with the one or two who order it.

2 Read one page.

The plot, the cast, the places. Change anything you like.

3 Do nothing.

Three to ten weeks: we write, cast and rehearse.

4 Send the invitation.

Time, place, dress code. Nothing else.

Start with one conversation. Tell us about the team and the question it keeps avoiding — we come back within two working days.
