Tonight, the city is in on it.

One night. Your friends think it is dinner. The city knows the plot.

— One night in the city you share.

— From three to eight friends.

— The whole evening is staged by actors. Who knows is up to you.

WHAT YOU RECEIVE, AND WHEN

Within two days	Talk to us. With the one or two of you who order it: who your friends are, how you met, what they would never expect.
Within a week	Read one page. The outline of the night, with the cast and the places. Change anything you like.
Two to eight weeks	Do nothing. We write and rehearse. Your friends do not need to know anything.
The night	Tell them it is dinner. Everything after that is ours.
After	One record of the night, written up afterwards, in one copy.

IN THEIR WORDS

"We met all these different people and found ourselves in really unexpected situations and places. You just can't tell the difference between the real world and what was Teleport. Like a dream really."
